Brownie Troop 289

Brownies of Troop 289 held an interesting ceremony and welcomed five new Brownies into the Troop. Newly invested Brownies are Cathy Hall, Peggy Keller, Sandra Lee, Svea Rockhold and Patricia Still. The girls prepared for the investiture by hearing the Brownie Story, then making their scrapbook for sample leaves.

They then took a nature study hike in the neighborhood and collected leaves from trees and shrubs that serve useful, decorative and food producing purposes. Then they mounted their leaves in their scrapbooks. They climaxed the ceremony by having their individual pictures taken in uniform for statuettes.

The troop planned to go caroling at Clearview Sanitarium on Christmas eve. They made button bracelets for the children in Shriners hospital for crippled children.

Other members of the troop are Renee DeVolt, Donna Finegood, Joy Hood, Bonnie Massey, Donna Michaels, Kathy and Linda Mercadante, Cindy and Teri Orozco, Ann Sorensen and Melissa Welfare. Their leaders are Doris Hall, Jacquelyn Lee, and Lillian Sorensen.

Nation's First Missile School Ends Training

Operation of the nation's first ballistic missile training school ended last week after 19 months, with graduation of the last class of Thor missileers, in Tucson, Ariz.

Since the school first opened in May, 1958, a total of 1863 Royal Air Force and United States Air Force officers and enlisted men have received concentrated training in airframe and ground support equipment systems of the Thor intermediate range ballistic missile.

The training school was conducted by the Douglas Aircraft company under contract to the USAF Air Training Command and was a part of the largest Anglo-American training program since World War II.

With phasing out of the Tucson operation, responsibility for training additional Thor Classes has been assigned to the Technical Training Center, Sheppard Air Force Base, Tex.

Final class at Tucson consisted of nine RAF personnel, headed by Squadron Leader P. J. Crowley. Certificates of graduation were presented to the trainees by Bryan G. Smith, Douglas supervisor of training at Tucson.

Fifteen different courses of instruction, lasting from two to ten weeks, were provided at Tucson. Largest enrollment during any single period was 288 trainees.

Civilian contractor schools which provided the training in other phases of the Thor weapon system also are being phased out. Thor guidance training, performed by AC Spark Plug in Milwaukee, will be accomplished at Sheppard and propulsion training, a Rocketdyne responsibility in Van Nuys, will be shifted to Chanute Air Force Base, Ill.

All Thor trainees completed their courses of instruction with integrated weapon system training at Vandenberg Air Force Base. Selected classes conducted the countdowns and lauded the huge missiles from the Pacific base.

County Moves to Protect Property Under Homestead

County Marshal Joe Bookman and County Counsel Harold W. Kennedy this week were requested by the Board of Supervisors, at the suggestion of Supervisor Kenneth Hahn, to confer and work out a system of safeguards so that property which is homesteaded will not be mistakenly sold to satisfy court judgments.

In asking the two officials to study the problem, Supervisor Hahn reported that he has been informed that a home worth $15,000, protected by a recorded homestead, was sold by the Marshal on Aug. 5, 1958 to satisfy a judgment, and that the buyer paid only $100 for the deed to the property.

The problem was brought to his attention by Attorney Jesse A. Levinson of the Legal Aid Society, who has filed suit in Superior Court to return the title to the property to his client, Mrs. Cora Jean Lucky.

SUPERVISOR HAHN commended Levison for his efforts on behalf of Mrs. Lucky and recalled that about a year ago the case of Mrs. Addie Gray, who lost her home worth $9500 because of an unpaid $130 debt for building materials, was brought to his attention by Levison.

Mrs. Gray subsequently won her property back in an out of court settlement. As a result of this situation, where the property was lost under a default judgment, the Board of Supervisors sponsored Assembly Bill 1181, which was signed into law and tightened up the procedures under which property is sold to satisfy debts by requiring that notice of pending sales be placed on the property for 20 days prior to the sale.

LEVISON reported to Supervisor Hahn that Mrs. Lucky would sell the property on Aug. 5, 1958 to satisfy the judgment. On that date the property was sold to William Lawson, 4028 Beverly Boulevard, for $100.

of the following circumstances: In May, 1956 Mrs. Lucky bought a car, which was later repossessed. She was sued for the balance owing on the car. A default judgment was entered against her on June 13, 1957 in the amount of $669—representing the balance owed on the car plus $100 in attorney fees.

On July 7, 1958, the County Marshal gave notice that he would sell the property on Aug. 5, 1958 to satisfy the judgment. On that date the property was sold to William Lawson, 4028 Beverly Boulevard, for $100.

MRS. LUCKY had a year to redeem the property. She did not do so because she had been assured by her legal counsel that the property was fully protected by a homestead, which had been recorded on May 14, 1956.

However, the Marshal issued a deed to Lawson a year after the sale, and the fact of the homestead was apparently ignored.

Supervisor Hahn pointed out that it was necessary for the matter to now be resolved by the Courts, since Lawson now had a deed to the property, even though it had been homesteaded to protect it against such a situation.

"I believe that procedure can be worked out so that this type of problem will not come up again," Supervisor Hahn declared.
